When I first began teaching, I wish people would have told me it is okay to fail...and that when you do, ask questions, seek out your resources and take good care of yourself. When I say "fail"

I simply mean, it is okay to try something and it not work out. When you start teaching, you plan this picture in your head about what your classroom is going to look like, how your daily schedule will plan out and how your class will run... odds are it won't work out that way... and that's okay! Teachers are resilient... YOU ARE RESILIENT -- Remember that that's why you chose teaching, you are a lifelong learner and you want to share that same love with your students.
